

Email Template: Executive Recommendation

Subject: ADVISORY: Strategic Recommendation on Vietnam Market Entry (Project Client X)

Dear [Executive Name],

Following our comprehensive market diagnostic, we recommend that Client X delay the full-scale entry into Vietnam by 24 months, targeting a revised launch date of Q1 2028.

While the long-term growth potential remains high, our analysis indicates that an immediate launch would result in a 15% margin erosion and significant supply chain risk. Our recommendation is based on three critical pillars:

- Infrastructure Deficit: 70% of the target region currently lacks the cold-chain logistics required for organic produce, posing a high risk of inventory spoilage.
- Pricing Resistance: Current "Organic Premiums" sit at 40% above local market rates, while our consumer data identifies a maximum "switch point" of 15% for the target demographic.
- Regulatory Hurdles: New 2026 certification decrees require an 18-month validation period for imported organic labels, creating a mandatory compliance window.

Next Steps: To ensure a successful 2028 launch, we propose shifting our 2026-2027 focus to a "Partnership Phase" to secure local cold-storage assets and lobby for certification fast-tracking.

I have attached the full Profound IQ Strategic Roadmap and financial model for your review. I am available at your convenience to discuss these findings in detail.

Best regards,

[Your Name]

Senior Consultant | Profound IQ Consulting Discover | Grow | Actualize

Why this works (The Pyramid Breakdown):

- The Subject Line: Identifies the project and the nature of the email (Advisory) immediately.
- The First Paragraph: The Governing Thought is delivered in the first two sentences. The executive does not need to scroll to find the "Yes" or "No."
- The Bullet Points: These are the Supporting Pillars. They are structured to be MECE (Infrastructure, Economics, and Regulation).
- The "Next Steps": Closes with a clear, actionable path forward, moving the conversation from "Problem" to "Solution."